Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of.

There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes:

"I could see no improvement whatever, though I was constantly treated with sprays and washes, and different inhaling remedies in fact, I could feel that each winter I was worse that the rear previous.

"Finally I! was brought to my notice that Catarrh was a blood disease, and after thinking over the matter, I saw it was unreasonable to expect to be cured by reached the surface. I then decided to try reached the surface. I then decided to try of the course o

To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the

Why Don't They Marry? Much has been said and many the conjectures as to why our young men They claim good grounds for a new do not marry. It seems to be the exception and not the rule now-a-days for a young man to marry. And why this state of affairs? Why this dearth of happy unions? Is it because of a verily. If statistics are true, there is an abundant supply of girls eager and willing to try the experiment of two living as cheaply as one, (which I never did believe was true). Why then, if this be the case, do not more of our young men take upon the uselves the yoke of matrimony? I think the principal reason for this is a false notion the young men have of the girls of today. The average young man thinks that the girls expect too much of him in regard to dress, style of living, etc. They think that if they could begin where the old folks left off, all would ments for. Ja , Dil on, Committee. be well. A young man speaking of marrying said to me not long since, "If I owned a hundred acres of land and a nice house on it, and ten thousand dollars in cash. I would marry.' On another occasion I asked a young fellow why it was that he had never married, he replied: "If a man had fifty thousand dollars, he could get married without trouble." Now while I believe the girls are to blame to a certain extent in this matter, still, I think the men take a very exagerated view of it. I don't believe that one girl in ten, if she really loved a man, would expect any more of him than his circumstances would allow. But to sum the whole matter up in a nut-shell, so to speak, my opinion is that too many of our young men are wanting in energy and ambition. If they would go to work with a will, and save some of their earnings instead of squandering it in dissipation, and ask some clever girl to marry them, there rould be fewer old country, and certainly fewer old maids.
